

FAST FORWARD:

Written by TMAC GOLF
Monday, 17 August 2009 13:17

Up until now it's been a secret. But Nike Golf has decided to let everyone in on it as the company formally announced the introduction of its new METHOD putter. The product has already been validated by a US Open win by Lucas Glover and a Claret Jug by Stewart Cink. "This putter has made all of the difference in my game," said Glover. "I attribute a lot of the success I had at Bethpage to my putting. I give a lot of credit to Nike for coming out with such a great product."