

Privacy Policy

Written by TMAC GOLF
Thursday, 30 December 2010 02:00

Privacy Guidelines

Web Street Golf Report does not collect personally identifiable information about individuals except when such individuals specifically provide such information on a voluntary basis. For example, such personally identifiable information may be gathered from the registration process for free trial to subscriptions or services. Personally identifiable information on individual users will not be sold or otherwise transferred to unaffiliated third parties PERIOD. At any time individuals who subscribe to the Web Street Golf Report newsletter have the opportunity to "opt out" on a voluntary basis. In the event that an individual has purchased a subscription and wishes to no longer continue with it prior to the expiration date, they will not be entitled to a full refund.

Web Street Golf Report reserves the right to contact a subscriber regarding account status, changes to the subscriber agreement and other matters relevant to the underlying service and/or the information collected. Web Street Golf Report reserves the right to perform statistical analyses of user behavior and characteristics in order to measure interest in and use of the various areas of the site and to inform advertisers of such information as well as the number of users that have been exposed to or clicked on their advertising banners. Web Street Golf Report will provide only aggregated data from these analyses to third parties.

Users also should be aware that non-personal information and data may be automatically collected through the standard operation of Web Street Golf Report internet servers or through the use of "cookies." "Cookies" are small text files a web site can use to recognize repeat users, facilitate the user's ongoing access to and use of the site and allow a site to track usage behavior and compile aggregate data that will allow content improvements and targeted advertising. Cookies are not programs that come onto a user's system and damage files. Generally, cookies work by assigning a unique number to the user that has no meaning outside the assigning site. Users should be aware that Web Street Golf Report cannot control the use of cookies or the resulting information by advertisers or third parties hosting data for Web Street Golf Report. If a user does not want information collected through the use of cookies, there is a simple procedure in most browsers that allows the user to deny or accept the cookie feature; however, users should note that cookies may be necessary to provide the user with certain features (e.g., customized delivery of information) available on the Web Street Golf Report Site. Upon request, Web Street Golf Report will allow any user to "opt out" of further promotional contacts at any time. Additionally upon request, Web Street Golf Report will use reasonable efforts to allow users to update/correct personal information previously submitted which the user states is erroneous to the extent such activities will not compromise privacy or security interests. Also, upon a user's request, Web Street Golf Report will use commercially reasonable efforts to functionally delete the user and his or her personal information from its database; however, it may be impossible to delete a user's entry without some residual information because of backups and records of deletions.

Privacy Policy

Written by TMAC GOLF

Thursday, 30 December 2010 02:00

The foregoing policies have been in effective as of January 15, 1999 and continue to be to this day. Web Street Golf Report reserves the right to change this policy at any time by notifying users of the existence of a new privacy statement. This statement and the policies outlined herein are not intended to and do not create any contractual or other legal rights in or on behalf of any party.